Green Eye Blue

By Katherine Alexandra Harvey

August 25, 2026 • paperback • $24.95 CA

"You can feel all your past lives, can't you? The person you used to be."

The daughter of Newfoundland's most prestigious merchant family, adored by her father and emotionally abused by her mother, Iris Woodsen grows up shrouded in shame and insecurity. When her desires are pathologized, she is sent to an institution to be cured, and then forced to marry a man she does not love. The only way out is to disappear, but her husband will stop at nothing to find her.

Spanning the vast terrain of the 1930s to the 1960s, Newfoundland to New York City, Green Eye Blue is a mesmerizing story of trauma and healing, and finding one's own path to authenticity.

Katherine Alexandra Harvey is the author of the novel Quiet Time, and the poetry chapbook Let Me Evaporate. Her work has appeared in The Walrus, Stand Magazine, The Malahat Review, The Literary Review of Canada, Contemporary Verse 2, Queen's Quarterly, Room, The Fiddlehead, Grain, EXILE, Quill & Quire, and Riddle Fence, among other publications.

The Little Way

By Carol Bruneau

September 15, 2026 • paperback • $25.95 CA, $21.95 US

Basically, the world has two types of people...those who garden and those who don't.

A dedicated mother and daughter on the cusp of fifty, Isla Fownes spends every spare minute caring for her aging father, Arthur, a passionate conservationist, and her aimless daughter, Rache, an out-of-work would-be artist who's just shared the surprising news of her pregnancy. That is, until a handsome widower's sailboat unceremoniously sinks in the waters off her Northwest Arm home, and Isla is saved from spinsterdom. If only Lester would stop talking about how much her home might be worth.

A profound portrayal of one woman's mission to redefine herself on her own terms, from one of Canada's most beloved storytellers.

Carol Bruneau is the author of seven novels, including The Little Way, four short story collections, and one nonfiction book. Her recent novel Brighten the Corner Where You Are was nominated for the International IMPAC Dublin Literary Award. Bruneau is based in Kijiktuk/Halifax, Nova Scotia.

Traitor's Game

A Mick Blackwell Mystery

By Stephen Kimber

October 6, 2026 • paperback • $25.95 CA, $21.95 US

In a wealthy South End neighbourhood, the daughter of a local Royal Navy commander has been found murdered. Her parents are missing. To complicate matters for Halifax Police Detective Mick Blackwell, the Royal Navy has claimed jurisdiction over his investigation. Meanwhile, Winston Churchill has just green-lit Operation Fish, an audacious gamble to ship Britain's entire gold reserves to Halifax to prevent them from falling into Hitler's hands.

Blackwell must connect the dots from his off-the-books investigation back to Operation Fish, solve more than one murder, and foil a Nazi plot.

A propulsive, clever, and atmospheric work of noir fiction.

Stephen Kimber is an award-winning Canadian journalist, writer, editor, broadcaster, and educator. He is the author of fourteen books, including two novels and twelve nonfiction works. Kimber is a former Director of the School of Journalism, Writing & Publishing at the University of King's College in Halifax and co-founded the King's Master of Fine Arts in Creative Nonfiction and Fiction programs.

A Good Girl's Guide to Lying

Losing My Memory, Searching for Truth, & Confronting Complex Trauma

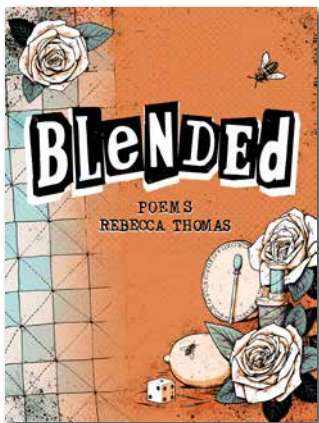

By Michelle Hébert

September 15, 2026 • paperback • $24.95 CA, $19.95 US

On paper, Michelle Hébert was a successful, high-functioning woman. A former social worker turned government executive, a mother of two, a wife, a published author. But there was a secret about her that nobody knew—one that her own brain was trying to keep from her. One that was destroying her from the inside out. Why couldn't she recognize herself in mirrors? Why did her mind disconnect from her body for long periods. A mystery disguised as a memoir, this deeply layered story of complex trauma is a heartbreaking, darkly humorous, and redemptive story of resilience, and a compelling testament to the lengths our brains will go to protect us.

Michelle Hébert's stories and essays have appeared in magazines and newspapers across North America and have aired on CBC Radio. Michelle's first book, Enriched by Catastrophe was published in 2007. The Toronto Star named her debut novel, Every Little Thing She Does is Magic, one of the 20 'Must Read' books of Summer 2024, and it was named a 49thShelf.com Fiction Book of the Year. She lives in Halifax, Nova Scotia, where she teaches creative writing and supports writers using trauma-informed writing practices. ## Blended

Poems

By Rebecca Thomas

September 22, 2026 • paperback • $21.95 CA, $18.95 US

*Make no mistake, we are not ancient or lost.
We are very much here, though at great cost to our kin.
Daughters of the witches they burned?
No. Descendants of the children they refused to return.*

Celebrated spoken-word artist Rebecca Thomas's second poetry collection, a follow-up to the critically acclaimed I place you into the fire, explores the author's various blended identities—as a Mi'kmaq woman, daughter, sister, auntie, wife, student, mentor, activist, poet, friend—as well as her blended family. From complex relationships with parents, navigating illness, memory, and residential school trauma, to rediscovering and rebuilding sibling bonds, to loves both platonic and romantic, Thomas gets right to the beating heart of it all.

Rebecca Thomas is an award-winning Mi'kmaq poet. Her first adult collection of poetry, I place you into the fire, was a CBC Best Canadian Poetry pick of 2020.

A Wondrous Gift

Bittersweet Stories of Christmas Past

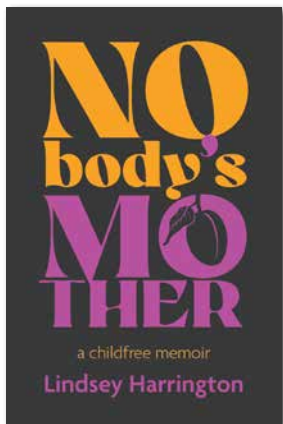

By Laurie Stanley-Blackwell

October 27, 2026 • paperback • $23.95 CA, $19.95 US

For many, Christmas is a time of cheer and cherished customs, but for some it can also bring hardship and hopelessness. Christmas traditions awaken memories of childhood innocence and wonderment even as they stir heartache about people and places that once figured in our lives.

In A Wondrous Gift, author Laurie Stanley-Blackwell shares deeply felt stories—part imagination, part memory, part reflection—exploring our sometimes-complicated relationship with the holiday season. Featuring tender black-and-white spot illustrations by Karen Keddy, Stanley-Blackwell's insights about love and loss will bring laughter and tears as readers relive their own Christmases past.

Laurie Stanley-Blackwell is an author, heritage advocate, and former history professor at StFX University. After a lengthy career specializing in Maritime history, she now writes children's books and short non-fiction. Laurie lives in Amherst, NS, with her husband and her two cockapoos. A Wondrous Gift is her second book with Nimbus.

Nobody's Mother

A Childfree Memoir

By Lindsey Harrington

October 6, 2026 • paperback • $24.95 CA, $20.95 US

To have children, or not to have children. That is the question.

Growing up in rural, Catholic Newfoundland, Lindsey Harrington had no childfree role models aside from nuns, and no idea that children were a choice. When she moves away for university, she is exposed to a world of gender studies courses and feminist novels, and meets women who don't plan to have children...ever. And she starts to wonder if she ever really wanted them herself.

Following one woman's journey, Nobody's Mother is a candid and timely memoir that will speak to the growing number of women who choose to be childfree as well as those who wish to understand that choice.

Lindsey Harrington is a Nova Scotia-based, Newfoundland-born writer of nonfiction, fiction, and poetry. She loves exploring societal issues through a personal lens, as she does in her debut, Nobody's Mother: A Childfree Memoir.

Drawing Blood

A Paramedic Memoir

By Andrew Bethune

September 22, 2026 • paperback • $24.95 CA, $20.95 US

Saving lives is consuming my life. The calls, the schedule, the hours behind the wheel all erode me. But I won't quit. It's a job like no other. A life like no other.

Paramedics help people. They are proud. But there are downsides: Working night and day, spending endless hours driving endless kilometres without sleep, food, or bathroom breaks. Drawing Blood: A Paramedic Memoir is a powerful work of narrative non-fiction by debut author Andrew Bethune. It offers razor-sharp insight into the human cost for the paramedics who bear witness to the moments when lives begin, change, or end.

At Home and Beyond

Honouring Canada's War Dead

By Len Wagg

October 20, 2026 • hardcover • 100+ colour photos • $34.95 CA, $29.95 US

Both at home and abroad the memories of Canada's war sacrifices live on. In a Dutch cemetery, children place candles on every Canadian headstone each Christmas Eve. The Canadian War Museum, Canada's Casualty Identification Program, and individual Canadians continue to honour these important histories. Through illuminating essays and more than one hundred powerful photos, At Home and Beyond: Honouring Canada's War Dead reminds us that our war dead may be gone but their sacrifices are far from forgotten.

Moon Lullaby

Words & art by Briana Corr Scott

October 20, 2026 • board • original illustrations • $14.95 CA, $10.95 US

An ethereal board book that teaches Baby the phases of the moon. On each spread, we are introduced to a different moon phase, paired with a short rhyming poem. Babies will be captivated by the soothing verse and the soft, whimsical illustrations: from babies sailing on a night sea, flanked by belugas white as stars, to cuddles with Mom on a sandy dune as the seabirds tuck into their rest. Briana Corr Scott's signature style celebrates the magic of nature and the bond between parents and little ones, lighting up bedtime with its lunar light. Includes backmatter of a full moon cycle illustration.

Briana Corr Scott is a beloved author and illustrator who lives near Peggys Cove, Nova Scotia. ## The Graveyard Cat

Words by Lynn Davies; Art by Jillian Thalman

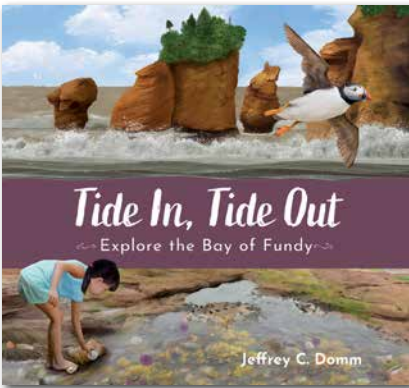

September 29, 2026 • paperback • mixed-media illustrations • $13.95 CA, $9.95 US

After the old lady goes away, her tabby cat seeks solace in a nearby graveyard. As the seasons change, the cat watches people come to the graveyard. Some visit just once, while others come often. Many sit quietly with their memories, and a few sing and make music. The cat observes it all while wishing for a name as beautiful as the ones she sees on the gravestones around her. More than anything, she dreams of being warm and dry, away from the pesky fox that won't leave her alone. Shy and uncertain, the cat slowly gets more comfortable with the visitors. All the while, that fox is slinking closer and closer...

Will this lonely cat ever find the home she longs for? The Graveyard Cat is a perfect story for starting conversations about the ways we grieve and the meaning of found family.

Ruby Johnson

The Richest Woman in North End Halifax

By Bruce Graham

September 20, 2026 • paperback • $21.95 CA, $17.95 US

Ruby Johnson, a North End Halifax woman in the 1950s, lives during a period of great change for the port city, with the building of the first steel bridge from Halifax to Dartmouth. And great transformation comes to Ruby herself – a windfall she really doesn't want but one that will alter her life drastically. Bruce Graham relates the story of how Ruby copes with this change in his usual lively, evocative prose.

During his almost forty years in the communication industry, Bruce Graham ran both radio and television newsrooms in western and eastern Canada. He has written fourteen books as well as plays, and numerous short stories, both fiction and non-fiction. Three of his books have been adapted as theatrical plays in Nova Scotia and British Columbia.

Atlantic Anthems

The Stories They Tell

By Jay M. Pilzer

September 20, 2026 • paperback • 12 b/w photos • $21.95 CA, $18.95 US

Atlantic Anthems looks at eight songs that have come to be classics in Atlantic Canada. All of these iconic songs raise issues of importance in the story of the region. Rita MacNeil's "Working Man," for example, is a window into her extraordinary life and the remarkable and often dangerous world of coal mining in Nova Scotia. Lennie Gallant's "Peter's Dream" raises issues concerning the fishing industry that is an integral part of the economy and culture of Atlantic Canada. Other songs discussed include "Farewell to Nova Scotia," "Barrett's Privateers," "Sonny's Dream," "Bud the Spud," "Helene," and "Snowbird."

The stories captured in these extraordinary songs illuminate a key element of our tumultuous past and provide insight into life in contemporary Atlantic Canada.

Jay M. Pilzer holds a Ph.D. in history. He has been a guitar player and songwriter for many years. He is a retired professor and the author of two previous books dealing with guitars, popular music, and history. He lives with his wife in Shelburne, Nova Scotia.

Nova Scotia's Lost Century

Can We Change Course?

By Ian Thompson

September 20, 2026 • paperback • $22.95 CA, $19.95 US

We must forever purge from our vocabularies the words 'Canada's ocean playground.' We're not a playground. We need to wipe that century-old idea from our collective minds and those words from our license plates. Prosperity won't come from a playground. Prosperity comes from innovation, confidence, hard work, risk taking, competitive zeal and ambition.

For reasons related to the nature of Confederation, and our own self-sabotage, generations of Nova Scotians have not achieved their full potential. Thompson argues that an opportunity to build a prosperous independent economy, and to control our own destiny, has arrived. All we have to do is seize the moment.

Ian Thompsom spent close to 15 years in the news media. With partner, Bill McArthur, he ran an advertising and public affairs business for close to 20 years. Ian worked for the Nova Scotia government in Ottawa and as deputy minister in the Department of Economic and Rural Development and Tourism in Halifax. Most recently, he was executive-in-residence in the Halifax office of the law firm Cox & Palmer.

Willow Finds Her Wag !

A heartwarming story about courage, kindness, and finding your place

Words by James Mullinger & River Mullinger; Art by Doug Graham

September 20, 2026 • paperback • mixed-media illustrations • $12.95 CA/US

Willow loves her new home but other dogs seem too loud, too bouncy, too much. When a tiny terrier needs her help, Willow discovers that one small act of bravery can lead to friendship, confidence, and finding her place in the world.

James Mullinger is a Canadian comedian, writer, and editor who has built a celebrated career across stand-up, television, and publishing. He is the author of the award-winning memoir Brit Happens, the editor-in-chief of The Maritime Edit magazine and has toured extensively across Canada and the UK. River Mullinger is a 12-year-old student, avid reader, and dog enthusiast. This is his first book. Together, father and son bring humour, warmth, and a genuine love of storytelling to this heartfelt tale inspired by their real-life dog, Willow.

Doug Graham is a Halifax based artist, photographer and cinematographer who has worked around the world for such networks as National Geographic, Discovery Channel and the History Channel. His connection to animals coupled with his passion for drawing and painting help enrich the words of Willow Finds Her Wag!

A Cove of Witches

By Nancy Taber

October 6, 2026 • paperback • $24.95 CA, $20.95 US

If Simone, a clairvoyant police cadet, doesn't solve the mystery of her family's relationship with the phantom ship, the Doirons past and present will be in peril. Only Simone can break the spell and unlock their second sight. But when visions of a spectre morph from frustrating to overwhelming, Simone risks losing not only the career she craves, but her family's otherworldly abilities. She races to uncover her ancestors' secrets and lies, generations of witches surviving the unthinkable.

Simone must protect her family's legacy, or be forever haunted by the phantom ship. In this companion to A Sea of Spectres, author Nancy Taber has created a fast-paced and thrilling adventure full of folklore, history...and witches.

Nancy Taber writes mysteries inspired by Prince Edward Island history and folklore, with witchy women who make questionable decisions. She is a current Brock University professor and a former Canadian military officer. Part of her job once included leaping out of a helicopter into the ocean. Nancy teaches fiction workshops at the French River Academie of Arts and Culture and facilitates with Writers Collective of Canada. Visit her at nancytaber.ca.

By Susan White

October 6, 2026 • paperback • $24.95 CA, $20.95 US

In the 1940s, during a post-war housing crisis, an extraordinary feat took place in Moncton. A local construction company, at the direction of Wartime Housing Limited, raised two hundred homes in record time, to give homes to the soldiers returning from war and to other locals in need. If These Walls follows the families who built and moved into those homes, and through their stories shows how stable housing lays a foundation for generational safety and health in families and in broader communities—a surprisingly relevant and moving message today.

If These Walls is a love letter to Moncton, and to the incredible post-war spirit that built a neighbourhood from nothing.

Susan White is a New Brunswick author. This is her fifteen published novel. Two of Susan's novels were shortlisted for the New Brunswick Book Awards. Her novel The Memory Chair was shortlisted for the Ann Connor Brimer award and was a Hackmatack Children's Choice book. Her first book The Year Mrs. Montague Cried won the Ann Connor Brimer Excellence in Children's Literature award in 2012.

Red Earth, Deep Time

A Natural History of Prince Edward Island

By Kate MacQuarrie

October 6, 2026 • paperback • 50 colour photos • $29.95 CA, $24.95 US

Prince Edward Island has a story to tell—if you know how to read it.

Just as buildings, cemeteries, and placenames tell of human history, the land itself records a much older story: natural history. This tale starts long before people—or even dinosaurs—existed. We read it in 290-million-year-old sandstone that records a climate and landscape very different from today. We see it in glacial erratics, drowned forests, and ancient pollen that document the end of last Ice Age some 13,000 years ago. And we find it in today's fields and forests, which reveal how this land has changed over the past few centuries. Evidence of natural history is everywhere on PEI, and naturalist Kate MacQuarrie helps you see it.

Kate MacQuarrie is an award-winning botanist, naturalist, and author who has been eating wild foods, tracking wild animals, and interpreting the story of the land for more than 30 years. Kate owns PEI Untamed—a business dedicated to helping people learn, explore, and reconnect to the natural world. More than 2,000 people attend her in-person programs annually, and tens of thousands more follow her on social media.

This is How I Connect to You

Poetry and Memoir

By Yvette Doucette

August 4, 2026 • paperback • $19.95 CA, $17.95 US

This collection is challenge, intimacy, and myth, revealed or transmuted in the moments of everyday living. This writer's perception, perhaps obsession, is rooted in desire to know what can be known, up close and close in. There is no protection. Reckoning and renewal, balance and specificity, like nature's primary constituents of reality, Yvette Doucette's poems speak to these. Here, negotiating familial memory, is mother and sister. Here are poems about nature and other-than-human kin. Here are ancestors lifting the living. As Doucette says, "It takes practice, takes trust, to give and receive fearlessly." Her words invite conversation, ask questions, and the fire of sorrow is here, measuring out days. But these poems don't despair, they take a relationalist's view. They shiver with loss, careen towards surrender, offer up hope green and wriggling, and yes, love too.

Yvette Doucette's poetry and memoir-writing has appeared in several collections. Her performance poetry has been commissioned by CBC, and her poetry chapbook, In a Burst of Yellow Blossoms, was published in 2014. She has freelanced for SaltScapes, CreativePEI, UPEI, and many others. She is the recipient of numerous PEI literary awards, including the Award for Distinguished Contribution to the Literary Arts. Yvette lives in Charlottetown, Epekwitk / Prince Edward Island.

A Whale at My Window

Words & art by Nancy Mann

October 6, 2026 • paperback • $14.95 CA, $11.95 US

Come along on this seaside adventure with a young girl and her whale friend, as she discovers the magic of bravely following her inner light.

When a flying whale arrives at her window, a young girl bravely steps into an exhilarating seaside adventure! This delightful picture book captures the mind of a child, where imagination and reality dance together fluidly. Through the highs and lows of a courageous heart's journey, the reader is reminded of the infinite possibilities when daring to follow one's inner light.

Author, illustrator, and elementary school teacher Nancy Mann has her heart firmly anchored in the Atlantic Canadian province where she was born and raised, New Brunswick. She is inspired by the natural beauty of her coastal home province and the boundless curiosity that fuels a child's imagination. Her literary journey was born from watching her daughter grow up, exploring the beautiful Bay of Fundy in the magical storybook town of St. Andrews-by-the-Sea. Nancy also finds joy in collecting sea glass, ocean rocks and words that rhyme.

Abandoned Alberta III

By Joe Chowaniec

September 25, 2026 • hardcover • 55 colour photos • $29.95 CA/US

Across Alberta's quiet backroads and endless prairie skies lies a fading world — one built by risktakers, dreamers, and pioneers. Abandoned Alberta III invites you on a journey through forgotten homesteads, collapsing barns, ghost towns, and relics of industry, each echoing with stories of the people who shaped this province. The third installment in the series is a journey into the beautiful, haunting, and unapologetically real remnants of the province we thought we knew.

Joe Chowaniec is an avid traveller who loves spending time outdoors with nature. Almost everywhere he goes, his camera will be with him. His photography has been published online and in print by the Calgary Herald, Times of London, The Guardian and London's The Sun to name a few. Joe is a recipient of the Queen's Diamond Jubilee medal for his work with Muscular Dystrophy Canada. Abandoned Alberta was awarded the 2022 Alberta Heritage Award for Heritage Awareness. Joe lives in Edmonton with his wife and their dog.

Forgotten Saskatchewan II

By Chris Attrell

September 25, 2026 • hardcover • 55 colour photos • $29.95 CA/US

Across Saskatchewan's quiet backroads and under endless prairie skies lies a fading world — one built by risk-takers, dreamers, and pioneers. Forgotten Saskatchewan II invites you on a journey through abandoned homesteads, collapsing barns, ghost towns, and relics of industry, each echoing with stories of the people who shaped this province. This is a journey into the beautiful, haunting, and unapologetically real remnants of the province we thought we knew.

Chris Attrell is a renowned photographer based in Shaunavon, Saskatchewan. Beginning his photographic journey in 1996 as a landscape and nature hobbyist, he shifted focus in 2003 to exploring rural Alberta and Saskatchewan, documenting abandoned buildings, ghost towns, grain elevators, and other symbols of prairie heritage. He is the author of the bestselling book Forgotten Saskatchewan and Grain Elevators. Chris has taught beginner and night photography workshops across Western Canada since 2016.

Seasons of the Heart

A Tapestry of Stories Woven Through Time

By Lana Shupe
 September 8, 2026 • paperback • 20 b/w photos • $24.95 CA, $20.95 US

Seasons of the Heart is a collection of soulful, uplifting, and enchanting personal reflections filled with joy, hope, and gentle wisdom for uncertain and increasingly complex times. Lana’s heartfelt writing paired with her captivating black-and-white photographs offers an opportunity to step away from the noise and see life through her contemplative, imaginative, and magical lens.

A lifelong lover of stories, Lana Shupe has worn many hats: early childhood educator, bookseller, book reviewer, and proud mother of grown children. Her newest and most treasured title—Nana. Never far from a notebook, Lana finds inspiration in everyday magic. She writes all her stories longhand—pen to paper—before ever touching a keyboard, letting her ideas unfold with intention and care. She divides her time between her Western Canada and East Coast homes. Her cozy “sea shed” overlooking a lighthouse in Nova Scotia is her favourite place to write, read, and dream.

Pet Project

By Heidi Tattie Rushton
 September 1, 2026 • paperback • $14.95 CA/US

Eleven-year-old Ada’s project for the Nova Scotia changemaker contest is to create a pet food bank for families struggling with food insecurity. But Zephyr, the new kid in town and a fellow contestant, is making her question if she has what it takes to come out on top. Between worries about her own empty cupboards and a string of suspicious contest mishaps, Ada’s life starts spiralling out of control and she begins to wonder what matters more—winning or helping others?

Heidi Tattie Rushton writes fiction for children and adults. Her middle-grade novels, Pet Tales and Pet Project, follow a group of friends in Nova Scotia trying to make a difference in their community by helping people and pets in need. Pet Tales is a finalist for the 2025–26 Hackmatack Children’s Choice Book Award. Heidi has worn many hats over the years—freelance reporter, international recruiter, preschool teacher, marketer, and animal care technician. Each experience has inspired new stories and some have introduced her to a few real-life pets who have a habit of sneaking onto her pages. Luckily, none have recognized themselves yet. She lives in Fall River, Nova Scotia, with her husband and two children, and more notebooks than one person probably needs.

Salvation!

20 Nova Scotia Churches Transformed

By Tracy Barron

November 16, 2026 • paperback • 75 b/w & colour photos $25.95 CA, $20.00 US

Having visited and studied churches worldwide, Tracy Barron developed a special interest in Nova Scotia churches and what became of them after they had been decommissioned, abandoned and subsequently repurposed. This book contains fascinating profiles of 20 such examples – from museums to art galleries and private homes.

Tracy Barron is an author, communications professional and former journalist. When her childhood church in her hometown of Rawdon Gold Mines closed in 2007, she moved it a short distance to family land and made it into her house. The journey inspired two children's books: The Adventures of Spencer the Church Mouse and Spencer Goes Sailing. Tracy was a civil servant for 22 years in provincial government communications in Nova Scotia and Newfoundland and Labrador. An avid hiker and amateur historian, she spends her time between her church house in Rawdon Gold Mines and Dartmouth, Nova Scotia.

Bangladesh

By Anne Launcelott

November 16, 2026 • paperback • 80 colour photos • $34.95 CA, $25.00 US

The world is my canvas, the camera is my brush.

Anne Launcelott has travelled extensively in the last 15 years – to Myanmar, Thailand, Cambodia, Sri Lanka, India, Pakistan and especially Bangladesh. She is drawn to the older cultures of South-east Asia and the street scenes of their ordinary citizens. It is clear from her photographs that she has easily won their confidence and trust and that she is welcome. That is her gift. The resultant images in this book are colourful and honest representations of these humble people. From factory workers to students to merchants, Anne's collection here provides us with a comprehensive rendering of life in these vibrant countries.

Anne Launcelott has been in group exhibitions throughout Canada, the United States and Europe. She has had numerous successful solo exhibitions in Halifax and had her first major international solo exhibition in Rybinsk, Russia in 2018. She has had photographs chosen for publication in books, magazines and in newspaper articles. In 2012 she was elected to the Society of Canadian Artists. Her photographs are in several collections: The Photography Museum of Lishui, China, Art Bank of Nova Scotia, and The Canadian Foundation for Chinese Heritage Preservation.

The Alexander Drive Project

A Social History of a Post-World War Two Neighbourhood

By Sandy Kowalik

September 15, 2026 • paperback • colour artwork & b/w photos • $29.95 CA, $24.95 US

Post-war bungalows, also known as “victory houses,” were built across Canada to house returning veterans and their families. The Alexander Drive Project tells the story of one such neighbourhood built in 1948 in Charlottetown. This social history chronicles how the street has evolved over the last 75 years, touching upon themes of affordable housing, supportive neighbourhoods, mental health, addiction, violence, changing demographics, gender roles, and the impact of climate change. Artist and author Sandy Kowalik blends archival research, resident interviews, and photographs, along with a series of garden assemblages using found objects recovered from her yard to create a portrait of how the neighbourhood came to be and of the people who call(ed) it home

Sandy Kowalik is a Fine Art honours graduate of the Ontario College of Art, working primarily in sculpture and assemblage. A native of Hamilton, Ontario, she has made her permanent home in Charlottetown since 1986. Kowalik's work can be found in the Canada Council Art Bank, Prince Edward Island Art Bank, Confederation Centre of the Arts Gallery permanent collection, as well as private collections worldwide.

We Wayward Beasts

By Kate Story

October 27, 2026 • paperback • $24.99 CA

In the dramatic prequel to her acclaimed novel Urchin, Kate Story again brilliantly fuses historical fiction and folklore. Valentine has never felt entirely “girl” and soon they are dressed in sailor’s clothes and aboard as vessel headed for Orkney. There they uncover family secrets, and unknowingly unleash forces that can’t be contained.

Kate Story (she/they) is a genderqueer writer and theatre artist from St. John’s, Newfoundland and Labrador. Uncanny occurrences were not unheard-of when she was growing up in the house on the Southside Road, built by their great-great grandfather. Their books include Blasted, Wrecked Upon This Shore, This Insubstantial Pageant, YA fantasy duo Antilia, and a collection of short fiction Ferry Back the Gifts. Their YA novel, Urchin, was shortlisted for a Governor General's Literary Award.

The Story of Jon Lien

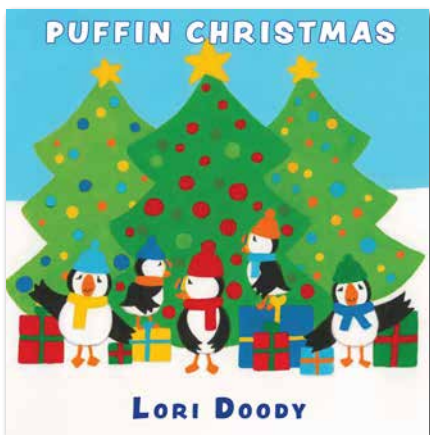

Words by Robert Chafe; Art by Katie Arthur

July 20, 2026 • hardcover • $23.99 CA

This beautifully illustrated picture-book biography tells the story of Jon Lien, a scientist who developed techniques to rescue whales trapped in fishing nets. It celebrates our connection with, and encourages children to care for, the animal world.

Robert Chafe is a writer, educator, actor and arts administrator based in St. John’s, Ktaqmkuk (Newfoundland). He has worked in theatre, dance, opera, radio, fiction, and film. His stage plays have been seen in Canada, the United Kingdom, Australia and in the United States.

Katie Arthur writes, draws, and edits books for young readers. She is the author and illustrator of Our Woolly Bear, What if Marty Doesn't Like My Party?, and Backpack. Born and raised in the suburbs of Southern Ontario, Katie now lives with her family on the rocky shores of Northeastern Nova Scotia. When she’s not sitting at a desk, she likes growing leafy vegetables, controlling the music on car rides, and making comics with her daughters.
